

Congressional Art Competition 2016

Southwest Airlines is proud to support the Congressional Art Competition!

We are excited to have the opportunity to recognize talented young artists and support education in the communities we serve by donating airline travel to each eligible competition winner for travel to the National Reception in Washington, DC. This is the 15th consecutive year that Southwest has supported the competition by giving each eligible district winner round trip travel for two from any city with scheduled, published Southwest Airlines service to Reagan National Airport (DCA) or Baltimore/Washington Airport (BWI). To view the cities we serve visit southwest.com, click "Air", and then click "where we fly".

Southwest Airlines has created an easy-to-use, all inclusive website for your office to submit an application for your winner. Please visit swacac.com to log in and complete your entry form.

Website Credentials

Your office will receive a registration email with unique login credentials for the swacac.com website. Please use these credentials to access the online application.

Online Application

Please complete all fields listed on the site in accordance with the following deadlines:

- 1: District Information must be submitted by: May 5, 2016
- 2: Reception information should be submitted by: 3 weeks prior to your reception date
- 3: Winner's information must be submitted by: May 5, 2016

When completing the form you will have the option to submit current information and return to update information as it becomes available. If you do not click the submit button, your data will not be saved! The application has three sections that must be completed for your district winner to receive the airline travel.
